Quick Comment:

I strongly object to proposal AGALA029 Netherbarns in the Local Development Plan.

I am a PhD student on Scott and the view that this development would disrupt is historically and culturally significant. Scott moved to Abbotsford and remodeled the house for this view. Students sit outside the house to look at, think about, and be inspired by this view. Tourists and visitors look at this view to see it through Scott's eyes. He had his bed moved into the dining room when he was dying so he could gaze upon this view. It is a violation of the historical legacy of Abbotsford to build a housing development and pollute the view that was so iconic to Scotland's most famous author.
