Quick Comment:

I wish to object to the proposed plan.

Abbotsford is an iconic country house for all lovers of Sir Walter Scott who did so much to put Scotland on the map of the world. It has historical and cultural value.

I am a tourist guide and bring people eager to know more about the author. They value the views from across Abbotsford . The impact of diggers and the building of a housing estate would have a huge negative impact on their enjoyment of the gardens which are one of the most beautiful in the country. It takes decades for trees to mature. The view over the housing estate would be seen for many years.

The impact on Tourism would be huge. Tourism is a huge asset for Scotland. It is an industry which has suffered enormously. We have to preserve our national heritage.
