To Whom It May Concern

Dear Local Planners of Scottish Borders,

It has been brought to our attention that you are considering building the Netherbarns housing development on the banks of the Tweed River.

I ask, at what cost and impact to the environment and social well being of the local people and the thousands of visitors from around the world that visit Abbotsford for it's history and unimpeded beauty of its surrounds. To think that you would consider shattering that idyllic environment that provides such enormous pleasure and solace to all those that have the fortune to visit, work and support such a treasure is astounding and of great concern to all that truly admire the combination of beauty and history currently shown in all its glory at Abbotsford.

The world admires the foresight of the decision makers that have and continue to secure this masterpiece from development, this is not progress this is destruction. The world is a fragile place and idyllic places such as Abbotsford need protection for all to enjoy and nurture for many years to come, for the benefit of all.

Please protect Abbotsford as the Scottish icon that it is.

I express my opposition to this development.

Yours sincerely,
