There is no application yet so send it to [REDACTED] who is the Project Manager for the school project. As her email at least touches on LDP matters, I would send it to [REDACTED],

Thanks

[REDACTED], I am not involved in the new school, and I don't think there is a current application but [REDACTED] will know the situation as he is dealing with it.

I have attached a letter objecting to the new school site. Which I would like forwarded to planning department, along with this email. I would like to add. My anger about the drill/bore holes which were undertaken in the park ---- before planning permission/consultation ---- ie we've already decided that is where school is going before consultation or you squander public money???. Immoral on both counts

I would add that SBC should realise the importance of having green space for those who do not have a garden of which there are many in the near area and not reduce it. Myself having been in that position. In addition there is a [REDACTED] which I assume will be [REDACTED] standing in that spot for hundreds of years, witness to the history of Galashiels and should remain there to witness more.

Re Hollybush proposal The carving up of the policies with a road to a new housing estate will lead yet again to loss of popular recreational space, wildlife, and green space of which SBC seem determined to reduce within the urban area.

I look ahead to the development of Galashiels with sadness – we are heading to being a large sprawl of commuter housing in a town with loss of community sense and responsibility due to its increase in size.

Your web site is also a difficult navigate and needs to be improved.

My last issue re housing – I am surprised that every house built in the borders these days seem to be painted white/cream. They would blend into the environment if they were painted in colours like green / heather /brown/ sandy. I cringe every time I look to the Eildons and see the blot on the landscape shining out that is Harleyburn.

sincerely

Elizabeth Mitchell
