Quick Comment:

While it is good to see such a detailed Local Development Plan (LDP2) it is disappointing to see little mention of factors relating to the climate emergency. Given that Scottish Borders Council has declared a climate emergency and Scotland failed to meet targets set in 2010 this is a glaring omission. Green spaces and trees are vital for conserving air quality and helping to prevent soil erosion and flooding as well as being important for the flora and fauna unique to our countryside. I would like to see commitment to include the protection of green space, woodland and hedgerows in council policy.
