Quick Comment:

I strongly object to the planned Netherbarns proposal AGALAO29 at Abbotsford.

Scottish Borders Council should fight to preserve the unique heritage of it's historical sites. The space around such a building is every bit as important as the building itself, and once that space has been taken away it is gone for ever. A screening of a wall of trees is never going to help, and will add nothing to the beautiful landscaping, but will simply detract from it.

Spectacular settings, far-reaching views, the relationship of a building to it's natural surroundings, is what the countryside and such heritage sites are all about. It would be appalling to compromise this in any way.
